Stronger together

Brian L. Renfroe

This month's issue of The Postal Record features a story on NALC's political action committee (PAC), the Letter Carrier Political Fund (LCPF), and lists the name of every NALC member who contributed to LCPF in 2022. If you are one of the nearly 30,000 members who contributed to LCPF, I would like to sincerely thank you for your participation.

Those who give to LCPF can probably recall exactly how and why they joined, and I would venture a guess that 95 percent of the time it began with a conversation with a fellow letter carrier. This has been our way since the inception of our PAC. As I write this article, roughly 10 percent of active and retired letter carriers provide voluntary contributions to strengthen our presence on and off of Capitol Hill. And while we have done well for ourselves in making our voice the one that resonates, we are far from done.

When "Gimme 5" launched in 2010, our PAC catapulted into the largest postal PAC out there and one of the top PACs in our industry. Gimme 5 has come and gone, along with some major legislative battles that we have been able to win due in large part to our PAC's presence.

We won an important battle last year when, after 12 years of concentrated efforts, the Postal Service Reform Act was enacted. Undoubtedly, the passage of this law, which finally repealed the burdensome pre-funding mandate and codified six-day mail and package delivery, would not have happened without NALC's action—which in turn was made possible by LCPF. The enactment of the Postal Service Reform Act is proof that members' contributions to LCPF directly translate to our successes in Washington.

While many of the final decisions that affect our jobs and benefits take place in the halls of Congress, the conversations, activism and contributions that affect those outcomes take place across the country. We depend on participation in LCPF from every single branch, state and region to keep our PAC running, strong and successful.

Giving to LCPF is arguably the best investment an NALC member can make to protect his or her job. When you contribute, you are investing in your job security, benefits and the future of all NALC members. By law, union dues cannot be used for our political efforts, so NALC relies on separate contributions to LCPF to keep us in the political fight.

What are we fighting for? We are fighting for the benefits of active and retired letter carriers alike in seeking passage of the Social Security Fairness Act, which would repeal the Government Pension Offset and the Windfall Elimination Provision. These are two parts of Social Security law that unfairly reduce or sometimes eliminate Social Security benefits for millions of federal annuitants, including letter carriers.

We are fighting for the Federal Retirement Fairness Act, legislation that would allow certain federal and postal employees to make catch-up contributions for time spent as non-career employees, which are currently not creditable under the Federal Employees Retirement System.

We are fighting to gain support from current members of Congress on these and other issues that affect our jobs and families.

As with all aspects of our union, the strength of LCPF lies at the local level, and we need to prioritize strengthening our PAC from the ground up. I encourage NALC members to get to know their area's NALC legislative and political organizer (LPO), who can help you engage at the branch level. I challenge every branch to commit to prioritizing LCPF participation this year. Our LPOs are there as a resource for you, and they will be driving major PAC-building initiatives in the year ahead. These efforts will be focused on education of our members and making it easy to be a part of LCPF. We use these exact same techniques in another area that NALC does better than anyone else—organizing. I have no doubt we can replicate that success.

I urge you to make LCPF and the benefits of contributing to it a regular topic of conversation at your branch, state and regional meetings. The more we discuss and understand how LCPF fights for our jobs and benefits, the more brothers and sisters will join in the fight and sign up to contribute. It only takes a small contribution from a lot of NALC members to make a big difference.

We are stronger together, and it will take effort from all of us to continue achieving legislative and political victories that benefit all letter carriers.

Letting up? No way

Philip
Dine

There's a tendency to relax after achieving something. For example, a team wins an important game, the players may coast the next time out—and they pay the price.

More broadly, an historical event might produce a similar effect, whether due to overconfidence or exhaustion. Three decades ago, our political leaders breathed a sigh of relief over the end of the Cold War and predicted that the “peace dividend” would let us focus on domestic projects. We were soon caught off guard by foreign threats (terror, China) that brought us back to reality.

I am glad to report that there is no basking in the aftermath of postal reform's passage, which NALC worked so diligently to achieve. On the contrary, after paving the way by informing the public, pols and press about pre-funding and postal finances, our union has quickly pivoted to getting the message out about other key matters, such as staffing and—critically—letter carrier safety amid the rising incidence of robberies and assaults.

President Renfro, who cited these and other issues in his installation speech in mid-December, has led the charge. Interviewed by NBC about postal performance this holiday season, he conveyed a positive message about USPS's ability to do the job, but added that delivery issues typically stem from staffing shortages.

He thereby managed to reassure the public about USPS's commitment to its mission while also letting everyone know that more carriers are needed. As a result, while the story spoke of delivery challenges, it put them in a constructive context for us—one of a worker shortage that must be addressed. In addition, he helped NBC produce an objective report—not a given in an era of narrative-driven journalism.

President Renfro also has facilitated the overall communications effort. In his Dec. 17 speech, his words about our top priority were unambiguous: “This violence against our members is unacceptable. It must be stopped.” He quickly translated that into action by tapping regional leaders to get the message out.

And so, Region 1 NBA Keisha Lewis spoke with NBC's Sacramento, CA, affiliate, following two armed robberies of letter carriers, expressing outrage at the increase in such crimes, while mentioning our efforts to work with postal officials on preventive measures and the need to ameliorate worker shortages so carriers aren't working late into the evening.

When Boston's ABC affiliate contacted us after several local attacks, President Renfro reached out to Region 14 NBA Rick DiCecca, who focused effectively on protecting carriers. Like Keisha, Rick lent a compelling human dimension to the story.

Meanwhile, Region 12 NBA Brian Thompson continued his excellent work addressing Pennsylvania newspapers about delivery issues, striking a smart balance between emphasizing our commitment to the mission and identifying the challenges posed by inadequate staffing.

Speaking of getting out the message, a young Maryland reporter recently sought our help with a postal story. Young indeed, as in a 16-year-old high school student. Della Baer's approach, however, was so professional, her knowledge of postal matters so impressive, her questions so on target, that it seemed worth the investment in time.

After all, a high school newspaper can reach thousands of students, their families, and teachers. Moreover, as I've often written, the closer a media outlet is to its audience, the more credible it is to them—small and local can be more impactful than large and national.

So, we provided Della, a print reporter for Montgomery Blair High School's Silver Chips, with Region 13 NBA Vada Preston and Pittsburgh Branch 84 President Ted Lee. Their input helped her produce top-rate explanatory journalism that addressed staffing/recruiting issues and the need for more career employees; pre-funding, postal reform and next-generation vehicles; and the value of letter carriers to their communities.

“I definitely did enjoy talking to Ted and Vada,” Della said. “It's interesting because they both had military backgrounds; that was not a link that was clear to me with the Postal Service. It also was interesting to me [because] I could just sense in what they were telling me that a lot of the issues they deal with, they were very comfortable with because they were things they'd dealt with for years as letter carriers.”

The interviews and research turned what “was meant to be just a local story about how postal workers handled the holidays, why the holidays are hectic and busy” into a broader story on USPS's value and “the big picture of the structural issues” it grapples with, she added.

Which points to another reason for working with aspiring journalists—the chance to offer them facts and context they will carry with them.

What she learned will “definitely stick with me,” Della said, and, on a personal level, “I'll never undervalue postal workers.”

Social Security Fairness Act reintroduced in House; introduction of other priority bills expected soon

On Jan. 9, Reps. Garrett Graves (R-LA) and Abigail Spanberger (D-VA) reintroduced the Social Security Fairness Act of 2023 (H.R. 82). This bill would repeal the Government Pension Offset (GPO) and the Windfall Elimination Provision (WEP), which are parts of Social Security law that unfairly reduce or sometimes eliminate Social Security benefits for millions of federal annuitants, including former Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) letter carriers.

WEP reduces earned Social Security benefits for CSRS employees and Federal Employees Retirement System employees who also receive a public pension from another job not covered by Social Security. In addition, WEP affects employees who move from a job in which they earn Social Security to a job where they do not earn the Social Security benefit.

GPO affects CSRS employees and the spousal benefits of people who work as federal, state or local government employees if the job is not covered by Social Security. GPO currently reduces by two-thirds the benefit received by surviving spouses who also collect a government pension.

The bill, which received a supermajority of co-sponsors in the 117th Congress, already had 59 co-sponsors as this magazine was going to print. Despite consistent bipartisan support, the legislation has proved difficult to pass due to the price tag.

NALC is prioritizing this bill and will continue actively working to gain support for it so that letter carriers can receive the full benefits they earned.

At press time, H.R. 82 was NALC's only priority bill that had been introduced in the 118th Congress. The Federal Retirement ment Fairness Act, which would allow certain federal employees, including letter carriers, to make catch-up contributions for time spent as non-career employees before transitioning to career status is expected to be reintroduced soon. NALC is also monitoring the anticipated reintroduction of two resolutions. One that would maintain door delivery for all businesses and residential customers and another that would oppose postal privatization ensuring that the Postal Service remains an independent establishment.

Notably, NALC does not have to wait for a bill guaranteeing six-day mail and package delivery to be introduced. Six-day delivery was codified with the enactment of the Postal Service Reform Act last year.

Stay tuned to the "Government Affairs" section of nalc.org for news and updated fact sheets on NALC's priority bills. PR

NALC makes regional, HQ appointments

NALC President Brian L. Renfroe named Ben Paul a regional administrative assistant (RAA) for Region 9 (Florida, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina).

The son of an American Postal Workers Union (APWU) member, Paul joined the Postal Service as a clerk in 2005 and transferred to the carrier craft in 2006, joining Lakeland, FL Branch 1779.

Paul has served NALC in several roles, including Step B representative, branch newsletter editor, health benefits representative, route adjustment team lead and congressional district liaison. He graduated from arbitration advocacy training in 2015.

Ben Paul

Paul was elected branch executive vice president in 2014. He also served as branch assistant secretary-treasurer.

The president appointed Stephanie Baiungo as a full-time advocate (FTA) for Regions 1 (California, Hawaii, Nevada and the territory of Guam) and 2 (Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Washington).

Baiungo started her postal career in Medford, MA, as a part-time flexible in 1996, joining Boston Branch 34. She transferred to Las Vegas, NV, in 2000 and became a member of Branch 2502, where she served as a steward, food drive coordinator and safety captain.

She was named a Formal Step A

designee and served on the 2011 route inspection team. In 2015, she became an arbitration advocate. She also has worked as a national assigned assistant (NAA) for Region 1 and as a member of the National Uniform Committee.

Baiungo graduated from the NALC Leadership Academy in 2016.

Renfroe appointed Ron Osborne as an assistant to the president for administrative affairs.

After serving in the Army from 1988 to 1998, Osborne began his postal career in 2000 as a casual carrier in Springfield, KY, joining Louisville Branch 14. He became a shop steward in 2005 and a Formal A designee in 2009. Osborne was appointed a branch trustee in 2014

SUBTROPOLIS

THE SITE OF THE POSTAL SERVICE'S UNDERGROUND FULFILLMENT CENTER

It's not Batman's lair or an underground city in a dystopian zombie movie—it's where the Postal Service stores stamps. SubTropolis is an enormous underground office and warehouse complex in Kansas City, MO, that houses the USPS Stamp Fulfillment Services (SFS) office.

From its cavernous office, SFS ships hundreds of millions of stamps, stationery and other products daily to customers—postal patrons, businesses and collectors—that order them online, from catalogues, or by phone and fax and mail. It also ships to post offices for retail sales.

"It's a very interesting place to work," USPS Director of Stamp Services Bill Gicker, who oversees SFS and its 180 employees, said. And it's a big place to work—SFS occupies 520,000 square feet. But with 7 million square feet of commercial space available, space is what SubTropolis has going for it.

SFS is only a small part of this enormous office and storage complex that began in the 1940s as a mine. The 270-million-year-old limestone dug out of the mine was used to pave roads and airport tarmacs in Kansas City. The miners left behind 55 million square feet of underground space, with 14 million square feet suitable for use as office and warehouse space. Lamar Hunt, the late owner of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs, saw the potential and, through his company Hunt Midwest, developed about half of the usable space for commercial use. The company opened SubTropolis for tenants in 1964; SFS arrived with its stamps in 1982. Hunt Midwest calls SubTropolis the world's largest underground office space.

The room-and-pillar method of mining, which digs open space under a roof held up by pillars of rock left in place at regular intervals, turned out to be a great way to organize office space. In between the pillars, 10 miles of roads and two miles of railroad track allow tenants to move their goods in and out, with 500-plus truck docks providing access to the outside world. The pillars also function as address markers to navigate the cavernous space—SFS is located at Pillar 210.

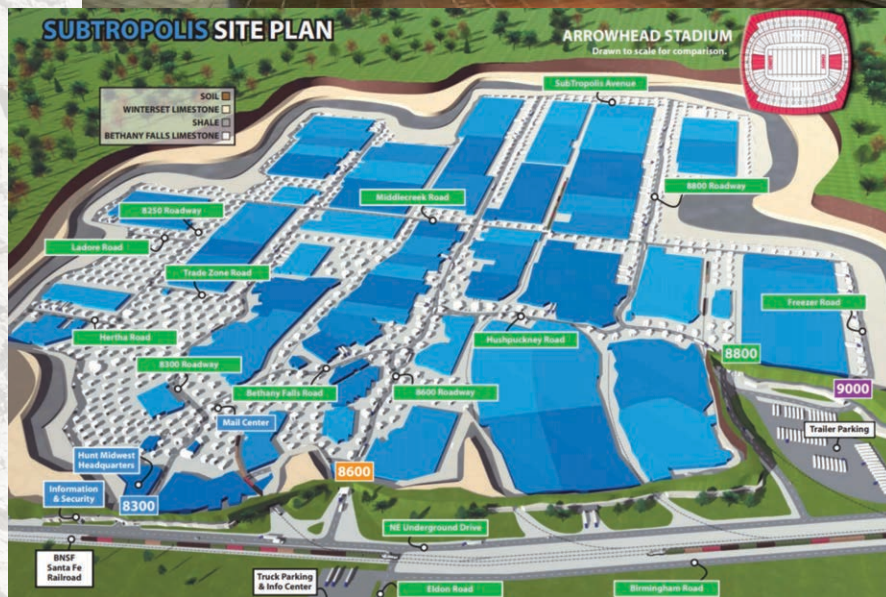

Doing business underground is inexpensive compared to above-ground building space—it was cheaper to use the old mine than to build a new building, so rent is about half of what buildings on the surface charge. But construction cost isn't the only advantage.

One of the entrances into SubTropolis

The Postal Service's Stamp Fulfillment Services office in SubTropolis

If having millions of tons of rock over your head makes you nervous, Hunt Midwest says that the limestone, including 10,000 pillars holding up the roof, is six times stronger than concrete. Besides the SFS employees, 2,000 other office and warehouse workers at SubTropolis toil under the rock each day.

There are some hazards involved, though. Due to erosion and settling, the cave floors can tilt.

“Where the automated machinery is, that is actually at a bedrock level, so that nothing moves under that machinery and it stays nicely aligned,” Gicker said. But in the office space, staffers joke about getting a good seat at meetings in a certain conference room so they won’t roll away from the table on the tilted floor.

Then there’s the sound of explosions in late afternoon. “Around 5 o’clock every day,” Gicker said, “there is blasting. You can hear the explosions as they make the caves bigger.” Hunt Midwest is expanding the useful parts of the cave and digging down to bedrock to add stability. “It’s a little unnerving,” Gicker added.

The blasting, though, is part of working in a huge underground office that has unique advantages.

“The nice thing is, if we get tight on space,” Gicker said, “they just blast out a wall and we expand into it.” PR

“At any given time, we have about $3 billion worth of stamps within the facility,” Gicker said, adding that protecting them from the elements is essential. “One of the primary reasons that any of the companies that are in the caves are there is climate control.” At 160 feet below the surface, the space has a constant temperature of about 65 to 70 degrees, so “it’s very easy to control for humidity,” he said.

“Especially when stamps were still gummed, humidity control was very important,” Gicker said, “because the gum liner was exposed. It’s less of an issue now, but it still keeps stamps in really good condition, and keeps them flat—there’s no curling.”

Stamps, and the many other products stored there by other companies—from automobiles and boats to archived paper and film—are safe from the elements year-round. That translates into a savings of up to 70 percent of energy costs for tenants.

SubTropolis is also conveniently located near the geographical center of the country, an advantage for shippers like SFS that send their products everywhere.

Local letter carriers get to glimpse the place, delivering daily to SubTropolis’s above-ground mailroom.

From “the caves,” as SFS employees call their home, they were busy fulfilling about 59,000 orders every day during the peak season last month, most within one or two business days. “They turn things around very quickly,” Gicker said.

Letter carriers and the mail on social media

Various news stories and interesting anecdotes that celebrate letter carriers and the mail have been appearing on social media. The following are some that have come to the union's attention. If you come across a story you'd like us to consider featuring, send it to social@nalc.org.

Iowa letter carrier retires after 38 years of service

On Nov. 18, 2022, Washington, IA, letter carrier Dan Schulte retired after 38 years with the Postal Service.

The Cedar Rapids Branch 373 member, who has delivered on the same route in the same truck since 1989, noted that while his own career was consistent, the world had changed drastically around him.

Only 10 of the residents on Schulte's route have stuck around since his first day. "A lot of those people that were younger then, they were in their house nearly 35 years, and then they've moved on. It's a slow transition. A lot of them pass away over the years and stuff, and I won't say that's tough like a family member, but it's sad. You see a different angle of it," he told the Southeast Iowa Union.

Though the social interactions dwindled over the years, Schulte said they were still present, and he would miss them.

However, Schulte expressed a readiness to retire as the job, though rewarding, was more taxing than it looked. "There's a lot to keep straight. We don't really just match addresses, we match people. I knew where you lived as soon as you sent me your name," he told the Union.

Schulte, whose three daughters will all complete their education in the spring, plans to spend retirement with his family and on his farm, which he has run concurrently with his postal career.

Community celebrates Wisconsin carrier's retirement

Wauwatosa, WI, letter carrier Jeff Hagen delivered his route for the last time in early December.

"I've been crying all morning. You know, I'm a grown man, I'm almost 60; I'm a grown man, and I'm going, 'This is unbelievable,'" the Milwaukee Branch 2 member told the local ABC television affiliate.

As a send-off, Hagen's community threw him a surprise party, showering him with gifts and kind words.

Resident Trish Ricci said, "He is like the lifeblood of this little community. He walks around with treats for the kids and the dogs, and always makes sure your package is in your mail. He's so humble; he doesn't even realize how wonderful he is to us."

Hagen said that he won't miss the "hot, sticky days" of summer or walking on ice in the winter, but he will miss the community. He plans to spend retirement making memories with his grandchildren.

California letter carrier retires after 38 years

On Nov. 29, 2022, Madera, CA, letter carrier Javier Alcala retired after 38 years with the Postal Service.

Throughout the decades, the Central California Branch 231 member has reached several milestones in his career—one being the Million Mile Award. This means that Alcala has reached 1 million miles on his route without even the most minor accident.

Alcala says that he will miss his co-workers, whom he describes as family. He notes that they threw him a party when he became a U.S. citizen in 1985. "They are not just co-workers; they became like family members to me.

Viv Woodland holds a 101-year-old postcard addressed to the house behind her. The card was sent to Holland L. Smith, pictured below from the 1924 Brattleboro High School yearbook.

We went through good times and some bad times,” he told Your Central Valley.

Alcala is also grateful for the job, crediting it for his ability to pay off his home and help with his daughters’ college educations.

Looking ahead to retirement, Alcala plans to travel with his friends and family, even considering taking an R.V. tour across the United States.

Postcard makes 101-year journey

In November 2022, a postcard mailed long, long ago finally finished its journey with the help of Brattleboro, VT, letter carrier Viv Woodland. When she first attempted delivery, the Branch 37 member noticed that the postcard was faded and yellowed, and it seemed to have been mailed in ’21—not 2021, as she initially thought, but 1921.

The postcard, which bore a 1-cent stamp, was addressed from “Lena” in California to her relative, a Holland L. Smith in Vermont. Lena wrote to Smith to ask if he wanted to pick oranges, and to describe the beautiful weather in California.

Prior to the century-old postcard, Smith was noteworthy—he served in the Navy during World War II and worked as a sportscaster, a newspaper correspondent, a teacher and a track coach, and he also served as a Burlington High School principal, assistant superintendent of local schools and a member of the Burlington City Council. When he died in 2000 at age 94, the Burlington Free Press dubbed him “Mr. Everything.”

“Generally, an undeliverable postcard with no return address such as this would be sent to the ‘dead letter’ facility, but I wanted to give this piece of quotidian history a chance,” Woodland told the Vermont Digger.

Eventually, after some sleuthing, Woodland discovered that Smith’s four children live in Vermont. She mailed it to the oldest child, who is 90, and left them with a beautiful Thanksgiving memory, all thanks to a dedicated letter carrier.

Pennsylvania carrier celebrated after 35 years of service

On Dec. 30, 2022, after 35 years with the Postal Service, Cary Zuckero retired.

The Branch 17 member, affectionately known as “Tex the mailman” in his neighborhood, delivered in downtown Scranton, PA, including to the NBC affiliate in the area, WBRE.

Cary Zuckero

To celebrate Zuckero’s lengthy career with the Postal Service, a small celebration was held at the Ritz Theatre, complete with a postal-themed cake designed to look like a letter. The marquee was decorated with a farewell message.

Zuckero told WYOU, the local CBS affiliate, that he plans to spend his retirement playing guitar and making music, a lifelong hobby of his.

Virginia carrier retires after 18 years

After 18 years with the Postal Service, Freddie B. Manning Sr. wanted to stay another two. However, life had different plans for the Suffolk, VA, letter carrier. When he and his family decided to move to Charleston, SC, Manning figured that an early retirement was the best option.

The Suffolk Branch 1112 member worked a number of positions with the Postal Service—a letter carrier, a safety captain, a trainer, an on-the-job instructor and a mentor. He also served in the Navy for 22 years.

As a letter carrier, Manning made quite the impression on his customers. “This is actually my fourth route that I’ve been on, and on all three routes that I’ve been on before, people still talk about me,” he told the Suffolk News-Herald. “In this new route I’m on now for the last seven years, people still love me out there, they know me by name. This one lady told me, ‘You’re the first mailman I know by name.’ That’s saying something. So I was pretty impressed with that.

“All the people that I ran into and encountered throughout my whole time in the post office, I really appreciate them. And they appreciate me,” Manning said, reflecting on his time as a letter carrier. “I’ve gained a lot of friends out there.”

Florida carrier featured in children’s book

Orlando, FL, letter carrier Dennis Winston goes above and beyond for his customers, and one customer decided to recognize Winston in a book. The Central Florida Branch 1091 member has worked at the Postal Service for 20 years and often comes to the aid of those he serves.

Customer Nina Vu explained that “he’s tall, so sometimes I’ll ask him to do a couple things for me. I had Christmas lights that I couldn’t reach and he quickly got them down for me, very nice.” Another customer, Sara Jimenez, took to social media to call Winston “the best mailman in the whole world” on his birthday.

But that’s nothing in comparison to what happened recently—one customer, Kishor Desai, opted to include an illustration of Winston as a letter carrier in his children’s book, What Do I Want to Be When I Grow Up?

“I’m delivering his mail one day and he said he had something for me and he hands a book to me. Then tells me to turn to a specific page and there I am,” Winston told WKMG-TV, the local CBS affiliate. “I’m super humbled. Nothing like that has ever happened to me.

“I love what I do,” Winston said. “Not many people can say they love their job. The person that loves what they do, it’s not work.”

Unfortunately, Winston will soon be undergoing surgery to repair torn ligaments in his ankle. Though he is used to ankle sprains, having experienced them often during his time in the Army, he's still thinking about the customers he serves.

"A lot of these people are like family and friends. I've been doing the same route for nine years and you build a rapport with people," he said. "I let all my Colonialtown people know and they sent me their best wishes. Hopefully, I'll be back. We'll see how the recovery goes."

Beloved Washington carrier retires after 38 years

On Christmas Eve of 2022, Seattle, WA, carrier Calvin Clark retired after 38 years with the Postal Service. His customers spent his last few weeks of work giving him well wishes. The Branch 79 member especially appreciated the yard signs that popped up over that period, congratulating him on his retirement and thanking him for his service.

The 62-year-old carrier delivered mail up a steep hill to about 400 residents, despite enduring several injuries throughout his career. Nevertheless, Clark loved the job. He spent the last four decades getting to know pretty much everything there is to know about the neighborhood and its residents. He watched businesses open and close, attended neighborhood block parties and paid his respects at the funerals of his customers.

"I love the people up here, and I appreciate everything they've done for me and hope the best for everyone," Clark told The Seattle Times.

The love wasn't one-sided—customers often offered Clark cookies or water on hot days, and one family who lived at the top of a very high set of stairs even installed a gate with a plaque reading "Calvin's gate" so Clark could avoid a long trek between their house and their neighbor's house.

Dan Knodle, a resident of the Queen Anne neighborhood, said that Clark was his letter carrier for 15 years until Clark's route changed. Knodle organized a fundraiser for his retirement, which topped $5,000. "It just goes to show how many people he touched on a daily basis," Knodle said.

Clark plans to spend his retirement enjoying time with his wife—and sleeping in. "I do know the first thing I won't do is hit my alarm at 3:30 a.m.," he said.

California carrier to retire after three decades of service

St. Helena, CA, letter carrier Gordie Adams is retiring in February after 34 years with the Postal Service. But first, the Santa Rosa Branch 183 member is planning on doing a farewell tour of each of the city's mail routes. Adams started out as a "swing carrier," delivering to all of St. Helena's mail routes, and he doesn't want to leave without saying goodbye. He's made quite the positive impression on his neighborhood; he also has made numerous friends and even met his wife on his route.

"I could very easily walk past people and continue on my route, but I like knowing about them," Adams said. Adams has forged great relationships with many of his customers and cherishes his connections with them, he told the Napa Valley Register.

Adams also brings his strong sense of integrity into his work—for example, when a local man found a credit card, he gave it to Adams to be delivered to the owner. Adams frequently helps elderly customers when they've fallen or have trouble fetching their mail, and he helps others on his route when they need it.

When he's not at work, Adams has a passion for heavy metal, comics and skateboarding. He used to spend his off days practicing with his rock band, Four Eyes, and he was strongly influential in the creation of the St. Helena Skate Park in the mid-2000s. As an older skateboarder, he says that he "wanted older people to understand this wasn't just about destruction and graffiti and all those bad things that get associated with skateboarding."

He met his wife, Akemi, when he left her a note asking for Japanese lessons. She agreed, and eventually they married. Adams plans to spend his retirement in St. Helena with Akemi, and is looking forward to sleeping in and having nothing on his schedule.

"It's going to be emotional because I do love this job, and 34 years is a long time," he said. "It's just time to go." PR

A FOOTBALL LIFE

I N M I N I A T U R E

Derek Smith was 12 years old when he started watching National Football League games on television. He gravitated toward the Dallas Cowboys and was a big fan of the team's quarterback, Roger Staubach. It was the late 1970s, and he and his friends loved everything about the sport. When electronic vibrating football field games came out shortly after, "that just exploded—everyone on the block had one," he said.

Around that time, his parents divorced and Smith, an only child, kept himself occupied and out of trouble by building train tracks complete with whole cities, and also building Legos and Lincoln Logs.

As an adult, Smith combined the two hobbies, building his own football stadiums.

While he mostly builds NFL team stadiums—"everybody has a favorite team"—he has completed others, too. He's built at least five University of Oklahoma football stadiums (one of his daughters goes there), a few other college stadiums, a St. Louis Cardinals baseball stadium and softball complexes—and a post office, of course.

At last count, he had constructed 64 stadiums over the past two decades, which is about how long he's been a letter carrier. The Oklahoma City, OK Branch 458 member has been delivering mail for the Postal Service since 2001. "I've been working here as long as Tom Brady's been playing," he said, joking, "He has not retired, and neither have I."

He mainly builds the stadiums as special requests for private collectors or to give to close friends.

The carrier often looks at a blueprint to begin to mock up the stadium, but blueprints are just the beginning.

"You've got to use your imagination," Smith said. "A's got to get to C, and B's got to get to D, and then D's going back to B, and then you're doing it as you go. You've got to have cutouts for roadways, sidewalk, and anything that slants."

Sometimes he has been to the particular stadium and has taken photos of it; other times he researches using Google Earth and gets panoramic photos to use along with the blueprints.

He deploys a variety of tools—a ruler, razor blades, X-Acto knife, pencils, Sharpies ("I've got every color marker you can think of," he says), paint, tacky glue, reading glasses and magnifying glasses, curved scissors, tweezers and pliers.

People don't realize that Smith's stadium models, which are several feet in length and width, can cost $150 in materials, he said. So he tries to stock up when there are sales. Indeed, his Christmas wish list always includes markers, razor blades and glue. "That's what I need," he tells his family.

He sometimes puts together plexiglass cases for the models too, but that can get pricey.

The carrier draws and designs logos and prints those out and chooses color schemes, and then “I dress it up,” he says. “Usually I find out what [the intended recipients] like, if they want a certain kind of field or end zone.” He also chooses elements from different eras. Smith, who says he’s a “throw-back guy,” likes to alter the helmets, since he prefers the 1970s-era two-bar helmets.

He uses special paper for the colored end zones that will bring out color and doesn’t smear, and uses thick foam board and particle board to build with so that the model doesn’t bow. And he paints in roads with rulers, for which you need to have steady hands, he says.

With some stadium seating, he cuts and glues strips of paper and then uses a paint brush to make rows.

“That’s one shot,” he said. “You can’t mess up—it will bleed everywhere.” Recently he has started using thousands of small rhinestones as in diamond paintings.

“People can look at the stadium and go, ‘I sat right there,’” he said. “That’s how detailed it is.”

Everything also is to scale on his stadium models. “If you were small enough, you could walk around in there and you wouldn’t hit your head on it—you’d actually clear it,” Smith said.

As real-life stadiums get bigger, longer and more elaborate, Smith tries to keep up, experimenting with new details, such as raised fields with fans below, and cutouts where people can walk around on runways and staircases.

“It’s fun for me, it gives me something to do, I’m relaxed, [and] I think about the craziest stuff when I’m working,” he said.

But, he added, “It’s all time-consuming.” That generally means 17 to 18 weeks to complete a stadium, “if I’m staying on it,” he noted.

Below: The Dallas Cowboys AT&T Stadium

Smith doesn't sleep a lot. The self-described lifelong night owl says he works on his projects once he's home from his letter carrier job, then sleeps four to five hours. He continues on weekends and on days off in a room he's designed to do so, including a sitting area for visitors so he can work and talk. It has a 6-foot table in the middle of the room on which he works.

"It's a way for me to come home and de-stress," he said of his hobby, but it takes away time from family, which is a drawback.

"My attention is totally on what I'm doing. You can get going on something, and the time just flies," Smith said. "My feeling is, once I'm starting a certain section of a stadium or building, I have to get it out of my head or I can't sleep, because it's still going in my mind."

In 2020, Smith decided to build the Dallas Cowboys AT&T Stadium, an elaborate domed stadium that he didn't think he could pull off, but "it actually came out beautiful," he said. That one was for his girlfriend's son, who is a Cowboys fan.

His three daughters and his girlfriend are major supporters of his work, and have even helped him take a video of his process to show it step by step.

He tries to keep his talents under wraps and rarely posts about his creations on Facebook, lest he receive too many requests. But a few co-workers and branch members know. Branch 458 President Kenneth Mayfield calls Smith a "very detail-oriented" person overall who does beautiful work on his hobby.

The carrier has entered the models in fine arts competitions at the Oklahoma State Fair over the years, with his work garnering 22 first-place ribbons and three for "Best of Show."

He has only a few models at home, including a Rose Bowl Stadium for himself and another that he's currently building just for fun. The rest he has dispersed to lucky friends and paying patrons.

On occasion, Smith has sold them on eBay or to a private collector, including an Oakland Coliseum for $850 and a Lambeau (Green Bay) Field for $1,500. "I've got so much going on," Smith said. "If someone can get a hold of me, and grab me for something it's rare, because I'm already doing something."

One of Smith's daughters asked him if he'd like to manufacture them as an official business in the future, but he is adamantly opposed to the idea. Mostly, he likes giving the models away as gifts. "When I make something, I like to give it to them and look at their smile," he said. "That makes it worth the hours of time I've done it."

His creations give him a challenge, require serious patience and dedication, and prove that you can accomplish what you set your mind to, he says: You can spend three hours on something, mess it up and have to start all over—but you're setting a goal and making the effort.

As to why he loves making the models so much, Smith pondered the matter before replying, "I think it's because I grew up around football for so long. It's just a connection; it reminds me of my childhood and something I did as a kid, and I've gotten really good at it now." PR

Additions to the 2022 NDRF donors list

The NALC Disaster Relief Foundation (NDRF) was established to alleviate the suffering of members affected by natural disasters, including earthquakes, tornadoes, hurricanes and wildfires.

The foundation has been set up to function in two ways: by providing hands-on relief and by receiving donations as a means to offer financial grants.

Any NALC member who has faced hardship as a result of a natural disaster can apply for assistance. The foundation's board of directors consider the hardship applications and issue grants on an objective basis to eligible individuals as funds are available. Job performance or history of donations to the foundation will not be considered as part of the selection process.

The foundation is a 501(c)(3). Contributions to the NALC Disaster Relief Foundation may be eligible for a tax deduction. All donations from letter carriers, branches and state associations go directly to NALC members who need assistance—no administrative costs are deducted. It is recommended that you seek further advice from your tax advisor.

Below are additions and corrections to the list of NDRF donors printed in the December issue of The Postal Record. PR

Special
Letter Carrier
Political Fund
issue

Every letter carrier knows that, for better or worse, Congress has its hands in the postal business. Congress initiates policies that affect our collective-bargaining rights, health care and retirement benefits, as well as the operation of the Postal Service, just as we saw with the passage of the Postal Service Reform Act. That's why the members elected to Congress matter and profoundly affect our jobs as letter carriers and our futures as retirees.

NALC works hard to ensure that our voices are heard in Washington, DC. The primary way we do so is through our political action committee (PAC), the Letter Carrier Political Fund (LCPF). LCPF stands up for letter carriers in Washington, helps deliver our message, and supports letter carrier-friendly candidates across party lines.

"Thanks to contributions to LCPF, NALC is fortunate to have a respected voice in Washington," NALC President Brian L. Renfroe said. "However, there is room, and a real need, to grow our PAC. Increasing participation in LCPF is the key to advancing our legislative agenda."

While 93 percent of letter carriers voluntarily join NALC, only 10 percent of NALC members give to LCPF, and contributions dipped last cycle, likely due to the COVID-19 pandemic. NALC has achieved many significant gains with the participation of these nearly 30,000 members, but much more could be accomplished with additional members giving to LCPF.

"I know, and have seen time and time again, that NALC is not a 10 percent union," President Renfroe said. "NALC members give 100 percent to their jobs, communities and union efforts. This is evident each year during the Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive, at branch and regional meetings nationwide, and when thousands of our members gather at our national conventions and beyond. To make our voice louder and more influential on Capitol Hill, it is essential that we put this same effort into our legislative program. That starts with contributing to LCPF."

Successes and the challenges ahead

NALC saw great success with the diverse candidates we supported through LCPF in the 2022

midterm elections. Of the 313 candidates supported by LCPF, an astounding 95 percent were re-elected, and 84 percent of the challengers we supported were victorious in their races.

As always, LCPF supported candidates based on their records and commitments to supporting our legislative priorities and other postal and labor issues we espouse. The candidates were 69 percent Democratic and 31 percent Republican.

More specifically, in House races, 68 percent of the candidates we supported were Democrats and 32 percent were Republicans. In Senate campaigns, 87 percent were Democrats, while 13 percent were Republicans.

"Over the years, LCPF has become increasingly bipartisan," President Renfroe said. "This has been and will continue to be our strength. While it may at times be difficult to look beyond personal differences with your representatives, I encourage all NALC members to keep our goals top of mind. We achieve these goals by partnering with lawmakers who will stand with letter carriers."

Undoubtedly, the most recent and historic win for letter carriers was the enactment of the Postal Service Reform Act last year. This law benefits letter carriers, all postal employees, and every American who relies on the Postal Service. It strengthened USPS in many ways. Most importantly, it ended the pre-funding requirement for retiree health care that had saddled the Postal Service with billions of dollars in payments owed to the U.S. Treasury each year, and enshrined six-day delivery permanently into law. Free from this unfair and unaffordable mandate, USPS is building for the future and is now on the path to financial solvency.

But our work in Washington is far from over. The tasks ahead will not be easy. Our legislative priorities will face significant challenges, and to continue to see results, it will be necessary to strengthen our PAC.

While the 12-year fight for postal reform was far from easy, the bipartisan reform bill Congress passed last year was highly popular across the country and across party lines because the Postal

IT TAKES ALL OF US

Service benefits every state and congressional district in the United States. This goodwill toward the Post Office boosted our lobbying efforts. The next phase of our agenda won't have the same universal appeal—we will need to toughen up before we enter the ring.

At the top of NALC's legislative agenda is the Social Security Fairness Act (SSFA), which would repeal the Government Pension Offset and the Windfall Elimination Provision. These two parts of Social Security law unfairly reduce or sometimes eliminate Social Security benefits for millions of federal annuitants, including letter carriers enrolled in the Civil Service Retirement System, which was later replaced by the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS).

Another priority is the Federal Retirement Fairness Act (FRFA). This legislation would allow certain federal and postal employees to make catch-up retirement contributions for time spent as non-career employees, including time many letter carriers spent employed as casuals, transitional employees or city carrier assistants (CCAs). The years employed as a non-career employee are not creditable under FERS.

"These bills are about much more than dollars and cents," Renfroe said. "They are central to bringing justice for letter carriers and other postal and federal workers regarding their pay and benefits."

Compared to postal reform, these bills will be a harder sell in Congress. They are more likely to face opposition from anti-union activists and budget hawks. And even if NALC builds support for these bills among rank-and-file members of Congress, passing them will require enough momentum to push back against reluctant congressional leaders who control the legislative calendar. At the same time, we must protect the gains we have made from assaults by extremist legislators, who would like to dismantle them by privatizing the Postal Service, cutting our benefits or ending our collective-bargaining rights.

NALC will have to take a different approach to advance these key pieces of legislation. We will undoubtedly need more hands-on activism at all levels to garner support in Congress. This can happen only with increased support for LCPF.

"NALC is committed to working with every member of Congress to enact SSFA and FRFA," President Renfroe said. "We must ensure that they know how these bills affect letter carriers and their future."

LCPF is a force multiplier

It is important for letter carriers to understand the main goals and functions of our PAC. Political fundraising is heavily regulated by federal law. Union dues cannot be used for political action committee contributions, so LCPF relies solely on voluntary contributions from our members. Thanks to the political fund, we have a voice in the decisions Congress makes that affect our jobs, and our lives.

LCPF is a vital tool for amplifying our message on Capitol Hill, promoting our priorities and identifying those who will serve as champions for letter carrier issues in Congress. LCPF supports candidates in both parties, as well as independents, who support us and our issues. It builds NALC's clout on Capitol Hill in several ways.

First, LCPF directly supports candidates' campaigns by providing the resources they need to communicate with voters. It takes a good deal of money for a candidate to run a successful campaign for office—modern campaign techniques for reaching voters can cost a campaign millions of dollars. In fact, more than $8 billion was spent during the 2022 midterm elections, and that figure is bound to go up each election cycle.

Most candidates rely on their allies for help. LCPF ensures that our friends running for office get the support they need. If they didn't get our support, the forces in Congress that want to take away everything we've earned—our health care, our pensions, our collective-bargaining rights—would likely prevail because their allies, primarily corporations and wealthy individuals, have deep pockets. As last year's midterm election demonstrated, every race and every vote counts. With razor-thin margins and widening divisions in Congress, we must work for every inch of ground.

Second, LCPF devotes resources to get-out-the-vote efforts. This vital effort involves direct member-engagement through coordinated work with our brothers and sisters in the labor movement. As part of these efforts, letter carriers reach out to labor voters to urge them to vote for pro-worker candidates and to help them with needs such as registering to vote, finding their precincts or voting by mail.

Third, the political fund supports communications, education and regular outreach throughout the election cycle to our members, so they are well informed about voter registration, early voting, absentee voting and voting by mail, candidates, issues, and policies in their states. Led by five legislative and political organizers at the regional level and hundreds of letter carrier congressional liaisons who monitor individual members of Congress and educate them—with the backing of all NALC members who participate in our grassroots efforts—the outreach program gets results because LCPF sets the stage.

“LCPF relies on letter carrier donors to function, but our power lies in our numbers—we need LCPF to thrive, not just function,” Renfroe said. “As our legislative program steadily grows, the union needs all of our members backing LCPF to make a real difference.”

But Renfroe stressed that participation by as many members as possible, at any level, is the key to our success: “The amount you give doesn’t matter—it’s unity that counts. Participating in LCPF at any level will make a lasting impact for you and all letter carriers,” he said.

Every donor, at any level, is recognized each year in the special February issue of The Postal Record. In this issue, the list of last year’s LCPF supporters begins on page 25. If your name isn’t on the list, please consider joining the effort using one of the forms beginning on page 21.

How to give to LCPF

The easiest way to support LCPF is to sign up for payroll deduction through PostalEASE, which most LCPF supporters do. Payroll deduction makes supporting the LCPF easy and affordable. This also allows the LCPF to plan strategically, based on steady, consistent support.

Career carriers and CCAs may sign up for LCPF donations through payroll deduction. However, CCAs must sign up again following a five-day break in service, and former CCAs who have converted to career status must sign up again following their conversion.

Active or retired letter carriers also can easily arrange for automatic deductions from a bank account or, for retired carriers, from their annuities.

NALC members have the option of making a one-time contribution, or supplementing their automatic donations, by writing a check to the Letter Carrier Political Fund.

To sign up or get more information on how to donate, visit nalc.org/pac.

“We have enormous untapped potential in our members,” Renfroe said. “The sky is the limit and we need to reach higher. I urge every single member of NALC to support LCPF this year so our union can support you even better.” PR

NALC is fortunate that 93 percent of letter carriers choose to join our union. We have a history of successful organizing because our 290,000 active and retired members know our union delivers results that improve our jobs.

Many external factors affect our jobs as letter carriers, the main one being what occurs in the halls of Congress. Our elected federal officials have a say in the Postal Service's operations as well as our health care and retirement benefits.

Through our political action committee (PAC), the Letter Carrier Political Fund (LCPF), NALC has a voice in Washington; however, that voice could be much louder.

Currently, only 10 percent of NALC members give to the LCPF. With these contributions, NALC has worked to get pro-letter carrier candidates from both parties elected, participated in get-out-the-vote efforts nationwide and, most importantly, used our influence to help get postal reform enacted last year.

We have accomplished a lot with only 10 percent of members contributing. Imagine all we could achieve if every NALC member contributed even a small amount to the LCPF.

If the 93 percent of letter carriers who choose to be members of our union also decided to contribute to our PAC, NALC would undoubtedly have one of the most influential political voices on Capitol Hill. With an increase in contributors, our influence would grow and pave the way for the passage of our priority legislation.

Letter carriers know how to deliver. If we all contribute to the LCPF, we can deliver a loud and clear message to Congress: Letter carriers' voices matter and must be heard when legislation affecting our work and families is considered.

If you are already a contributor to the LCPF, I would like to thank you for your commitment to propelling NALC's legislative agenda forward.

If you haven't signed up to contribute yet, I encourage you to do so as soon as possible. No matter the size of your contribution, it will make a difference for you and our brothers and sisters.

In solidarity,

Brian L. Renfroe
President

Monthly CSRS annuity payments for letter carriers who retire on April 1, 2023

The table below provides monthly basic annuity, survivor reduction and reduced annuity amount estimates for letter carriers covered by the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) who plan to take optional retirement on April 1, 2023. Estimates are computed by using the given high-3 averages, which are based on the basic pay earned by full-time Step O carriers and vary by length of postal/federal/military service.

Reduced annuity amounts reflect the difference between the given basic annuity and survivor reduction figures.

1. High-3 averages for both grades (formerly levels) are for carriers who have worked full-time on a continuous basis between April 1, 2020, and March 31, 2023, at Step O (formerly Step 12).

2. Years of service includes any unused sick leave.

3. The reduction for a survivor's annuity is the amount necessary to provide maximum benefits (55 percent of basic annuity) to a surviving spouse.

4. If covered by the NALC Health Benefit Plan, a further deduction of either $523.75 per month if for self plus one (code 323), $457.82 if for self and family (code 322), or $223.12 if for self only (code 321) will be made. In addition, premiums for any coverage under the Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance Program will reduce the net annuity further.

5. Under CSRS rules, the maximum allowable yearly annuity cannot exceed 80 percent of an annuitant's high-three average. This limit is reached when an annuitant's years of service amount to 41 years and 11 months. Individuals with more than 41 years and 11 months of service will not get a higher annuity based on additional service, but may get slightly more than 80 percent of their high-three average on the basis of unused sick leave accumulated under CSRS.

Monthly FERS annuity payments for letter carriers who retire on April 1, 2023

The Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS) covers federal and postal employees hired on or after Jan. 1, 1984. FERS employees earn retirement benefits from three sources: the FERS Basic Annuity, Social Security and the Thrift Savings Plan.

An additional Special Annuity Supplement is paid to FERS annuitants who retire at Minimum Retirement Age (MRA) plus 30 years or more, or at age 60 plus 20 years or more. It is approximately calculated by taking an individual's Social Security age 62 benefit estimate, multiplied by the number of years of FERS coverage, divided by 40. It is payable to age 62 and then ends. Social Security benefits are payable beginning at age 62.

The table below provides monthly basic annuity, survivor deduction and net annuity amount estimates for letter carriers who plan to take optional retirement on April 1, 2023. Estimates are computed by using the given high-3 averages, which are based on the basic pay earned by full-time Step O carriers and vary by length of postal/military/federal service. In addition, premiums for any coverage under the Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance Program will reduce the net annuity further.

5. Under FERS rules, there is no maximum allowable yearly annuity. However, given the FERS formula of 1 percent per year, it is highly unlikely that any FERS employee will ever exceed the 80 percent maximum limit under CSRS.

6. FERS employees who retire at age 62 or later with at least 20 years of service receive an additional 10 percent—their annuities are calculated at 1.1 percent times years of service times high-three average salary.

How to place a Mutual Exchange ad

The cost of Mutual Exchange ads is $15 for up to 30 words and $25 for 31-50 words per month.

Ads must be received by the 5th of the month preceding the month in which the ad will appear, e.g., February's deadline is for the March publication. Mail ad with check (payable to NALC) to: Mutual Exchange Ads, Postal Record, 100 Indiana Ave. NW, Washington, DC 20001-2144.

Ads are published for NALC members only. A branch officer or steward must endorse the ad to certify membership. Ads without endorsements will be returned.

Include your name, address and branch number. Ads must be received in the same format and wording as they will appear in the magazine. Begin each ad with your state abbreviation, city and seniority date.

Ads should be typed in upper/lower case (or, if this is not possible, printed clearly) on a full sheet of 8.5 x 11" paper. Make certain the numerals 0 (zero) and 1 (one) can be distinguished from the letters O and I in e-mail addresses.

Note: Specific route information or mention of three-way transfers will not be published, nor any wording that offers cash or property to facilitate an exchange. Mutual exchanges must be approved by both postmasters involved. Seniority of carriers involved shall be governed by Article 41, Sec. 2E of the National Agreement. Carriers may not exchange assignments, since vacated positions must be posted for bids in accordance with local and national agreements.
